

DEAR FRIENDS,

Welcome to the Inaugural Season presented by St.Vincent Health!

You are about to experience a spectacular evening of live music performed in one of the world's great music halls. The Palladium was designed to delight audiences and its acoustics are equally magical for the musicians performing on stage. The combination of musical brilliance and acoustical engineering will embrace your senses!

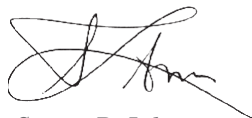

In the coming weeks and months, more of the Palladium's neighbors and friends will begin to fill the hall, too. Many of these guests will be brand new to the world of arts, while others will be dedicated patrons eager to hear spectacular works performed live on the Palladium stage. It is a sensational season ahead. From country and jazz, to dance and classics, the Great American Songbook will be front-and-center encompassing all genres.

As you settle in for the performance, please join us in thanking St.Vincent Health for their unwavering support to the Center for the Performing Arts. Not only has St.Vincent Health sponsored our inaugural season and grand opening celebrations, their partnership extends to the 2011-2012 season.

We are glad you are here and we look forward to sharing together many memorable moments in the weeks, months and years to come.
